The Traffic Lights

A simple way to show students exactly how AI may be used on an assignment.

1*RED — AI-FREE

This is you, unassisted.
No AI at any stage.

2*YELLOW — AI-ASSISTED

AI can help; you drive.
Use it only as the assignment states — and disclose it.

3*GREEN — AI-ENCOURAGED

Using the tool well IS the skill.
Direct it, evaluate it, document it.

Every assignment shows its color.

When in doubt — ask first.
Asking is always safe.

Five Prompts to Get You Started

Five of the fifty, from The Fifty Prompts (Teaching in an AI World, AI with Confidence Book 1) by Kevin D. Graham — get the complete set free at kevindgraham.com/teach.

1.

“Create a [length] lesson on [topic] for [grade] students who already know [prior knowledge]. Align to the standard below: [paste]. Include [components]. Mark anything requiring teacher verification.”

3.

“Rewrite this passage at three reading levels — [levels] — keeping all key concepts intact: [paste].”

6.

“Write [number] exit-ticket questions on [topic]: one recall, one application to a new scenario, one ‘explain your thinking.’ Include an answer key with common wrong answers and what each reveals.”

7.

“Draft a warm, professional email to families about [general topic — never a specific student]. Three short paragraphs, 6th-grade reading level, ending with one clear action step.”

42. (Student, green-light)

“You are my study partner for [topic]. Quiz me one question at a time, wait for my answer, tell me if I’m right and why, and get gradually harder. Don’t let me change the subject.”

Our Class AI Agreement

Review together, discuss aloud, then sign. The conversation matters more than the signatures.

Class: _____ Teacher: _____ School year: _____

I understand that:

- Every assignment in this class is marked Red (no AI), Yellow (AI allowed for stated uses, with disclosure), or Green (AI encouraged), and the marking tells me exactly what's allowed.
- The purpose of my work is my learning. Work I submit should reflect what I actually understand.
- Our district's rules for approved AI tools apply in this class.

Approved tools for us: _____

I agree to:

- Follow the color marking on each assignment, and ask before using AI if I'm unsure. Asking will never get me in trouble.
- Honestly describe how I used AI whenever I use it, in the format the assignment requires.
- Never enter personal information — mine or anyone else's — into an AI tool.
- Be able to explain and discuss anything I turn in.

My teacher agrees to:

- Mark every assignment's AI status clearly, before I start.
- Never penalize honestly disclosed AI use on assignments where it's allowed.
- Never accuse me of AI misuse based on a detection tool alone.
- Talk with me first, one-on-one, if a concern ever comes up.

If the agreement is broken:

(Describe your process in plain language and align it with your district's academic integrity policy. Example: "We'll have a private conversation first. Consequences follow our campus academic integrity policy and focus on re-learning — redoing the work under supervision or demonstrating the skill another way.")
